

To Whom It May Concern

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am very happy to recommend Ms. Kaamala Neupane to the Project Arizona program of your prestigious institution.

I have known Ms. Neupane for more than 3 years as a colleague in two different institutions. She was a research assistant for two years for Nepal Language and Research Solutions, a research agency I co-founded in January 2015. I found her very hard working and dedicated to her work and always open to learning. Her most impressive personality trait is her determination to finish what she has started at any cost. She is also highly energetic almost all the time which made her a very good team player and an asset to the organization.

Her aforementioned qualities led me to ask her to join me as one of the co-founders for Nepal Prosperity Institute, a youth-led, youth-run think tank that aims to promote financial literacy, entrepreneurship, and economic freedom in Nepal a year ago. She is the youngest team member on the founding board of Nepal Prosperity Institute but is among the most active ones. She demonstrates exceptional leadership skills with an ability to learn quickly and find innovative ways to get things done.

It is my knowledge that she has been an exceptional student in her Bachelors and has been selected as one of the rising stars by WEDU, an international non-profit supporting promising young women and as one of the council members for the US Embassy Youth Council, a network of 50 exceptional young leaders from across Nepal, for the year 2017. She also received a scholarship to attend a summer course on political economy in Hong Kong credited by the George Mason University and I have been told that her performance there was outstanding.

Therefore, I am confident that if given an opportunity to attend your program, she will do an outstanding job. Moreover, I believe the programme is going to be invaluable opportunity to expand her knowledge horizon. Getting an education from an internationally renowned project like yours will definitely help her see a bigger picture with regards to the economic development in Nepal which in turn will help her become a more influential economist and a leader of the economic discourse in Nepal. I am confident that having her as a student will contribute to the continuation of the remarkable prestige your institution has in the field of economics education.

I welcome any questions or concerns,

Sincerely,

Surath Giri
President
